

Texts, translations and researches in four languages. For your international business.

Welcome!

You found a communication service provider specialised in environment, maritime recreation – especially sailing – and tourism. Offered are Texts, translations and researches in four languages. For your international business. More precisely:

Website translations including search engine optimisation / SEO writing. Translated texts in most cases can be placed directly into your content management system. From German, Italian, Dutch into English or from English, Italian, Dutch into German.

Technical translations among which web based training environments, product specifications.

Text production in German or English for web and print: Website content, articles, press releases, brochures for exhibitions, newsletters, presentations.

Information researches and writings about environmental and nautical topics.

Goals of this service is to enable you as a company, organisation or independent professional to successfully extend your outreach to other countries. I do this by flexibly facilitating your communication with your foreign business partners, wherever you see fit: Through directed researches tailored to your interests. Also, by helping you to build up a professional web presentation. Or by writing great texts for your printed promotion material.

I'm a communication professional with very specific experience, knowledge and qualifications. German is my native language. More detailed information is here.

Curious for more? Your questions and feedback are most welcome. Contact me also for a non binding offer.